Dear Readers,

I welcome you to a delightful journey this vacation. A journey of sharing talent, puzzles, recommendations of board games/ books/ apps, contests happening as well as read about what other fellow young readers are doing differently in the holidays.

We have readers from various countries who will be contributing to this newsletter.

And so, can you ☺

If you want to share something interesting, please mail to rnucollections@gmail.com

Passez une bonne semaine d'avance ! (Have a good week ahead, in French)

Nature Trails and learning about insects!

Hargun has compiled a 15-page report on insects, focusing on butterflies. It has descriptions of habitat, behavior, appearance, life cycle and many more important aspects of this beautiful insect.

She is planning to make a butterfly feeder this Summer. All the best, Hargun. We will look forward to seeing it soon.

Money Matters

Learn the Skittles Game

Object of the Game: Playing the Risk Versus Return Game

- The children are trying to get the most candy by the end of play.
- Each child is given 20 candies to begin the game.
- The skittles at the beginning of the game represent investment capital.
- The game will be played in 10 short rounds.
- Players must "pay to play".
- 1 candy is subtracted from the tally sheet during each round of play.
- Children earn a predetermined number of candies each time they correctly predict which number will be rolled on a dice.
- More candies are rewarded if they guess correctly with fewer tries.
- The object is to see who has the most candies at the end of the game, and to keep track of the way they earned their candies.
- The children get to keep and eat their candies at the end of play.

Contest Time

J.K. ROWLING

THE Ickabog
ILLUSTRATION
COMPETITION

The best bit is, if you are between seven and twelve years old, your parent or guardian on your behalf can enter your drawings or paintings into the official competition being run by J.K. Rowling's publishers, for a once in a lifetime chance to be featured in The Ickabog book, which is published in November. The competition is now open in the UK, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, India, the USA, and Canada, and will be extended to other countries very soon.

Competition closes 17th July 2020.
